

I do not support the petition by BellSouth and other large telecommunications companies requesting that the FCC discontinue regulating broadband service. I value the superior service of an independent Internet Service Provider. Without question, if the huge monopolies are unregulated they will run the small independent ones out of business. Service will suffer and prices for internet service will be out of reach for the average consumer. I request that the FCC refuse to provide the giant companies with their request for deregulation.